Director's Meeting

Friday, 20 July 1951

Mr. Wolf remarked that we had amateurs trying to do a professional job in procurement. The Director stated that General [ ] was the best procurement man in the army and that he would call him. [ ]

The DCI stated that [ ] (Mr. Dulles knows him,) might be just the man to do a one-time job this time, although he might need careful watching.

The DCI stated that there was a great need for general field inspection and that we might possibly take on [ ] for this job. Mr. [ ] thinks that [ ] is very strong on substantive intelligence matters and is a good administrator. He also thinks that [ ] might be a possible successor for Dr. Millikan if Millikan has to leave. The DCI, however, believes that he would be a high-level trouble shooter.

In relation to the above, Mr. Wolf wants someone to examine the foreign field from the administrative point of view. The DCI agrees.

Mr. [ ] reported that General Chenault is in Washington and would like to see the DCI. General Smith agreed to see him at 4:30.
